

入学式は空の下で！

The entrance ceremony is held under the open sky!

上智大学が大学令による大学になった後、1号館が竣工し、2階の講堂で入学式が行われました。学生が増加すると講堂では狭くなり空の下で入学式を行っていたようです。雨の時はどうするつもりだったのか気になります。その後は体育館ができるまでセレモニーホールという建物で式を行っており、ご父母は会場の外で参列する姿も見られます。今のように貸ホールなどがなかった時代です。

After Sophia University became a university under the University Ordinance, Building No. 1 was completed, and the entrance ceremony was held in the auditorium on the second floor. As the number of students increased, the auditorium became too small, and the entrance ceremony was held under the sky. I wonder what they did when it rained. After that, until the gymnasium was built, the ceremony was held in a building called the Ceremony Hall, and parents could be seen attending outside the hall. This was in the days when there were no rental halls like today.
